“Enhancing Winter Weather Training”

Presented by FAA Aviation Weather Division staff Dr. Ian Johnson, Danny Simms, and Jennifer Colavito

Jennifer Colavito

FAA Ceiling & Visibility Project Lead

Dr. Ian Johnson

FAA Engineering Psychologist

Danny Simms

FAA Physical Scientist

Join these expert weather professionals as they share strategies to enhance winter weather teaching strategies to facilitate reducing the number of accidents and incidents related to adverse winter weather. Using winter weather scenarios, participants will learn the gaps in pilot weather knowledge and their interpretation and use of weather information. In addition, the scenarios will highlight the availability of winter-weather training materials funded by the FAA.

Ultimately, participants will be more knowledgeable on specific winter weather topics to stress when teaching their students, will learn about new materials to enhance the teaching of winter weather phenomena, winter weather products/information, and hazardous weather avoidance decision-making.
